

Guidelines for Using Generative AI

I do not mind if you use generative AI tools like ChatGPT, Bing etc. to do assignments. In fact, learning to use AI is an emerging skill which is becoming important day by day.

However, be aware of the limits of these AI tools:

- If you don't put effort in writing the prompts, you will get low quality results. It takes practice to write and refine prompts to obtain results of desirable quality.
- You should not blindly trust the output generated by these tools. It works best for topics you understand, always check or verify the results otherwise you will be responsible for any errors or omissions provided by the tool.
- Be thoughtful about when to use this tool, don't use if the information you are sharing is sensitive or confidential.
- If you use the tool, please acknowledge its use. Please include a paragraph at the end of any assignment in which you have used AI explaining what prompt you used to get the result.
